Ursinus entertains Gettysburg today in an all-important Conference contest. And the Bullets are coming in full strength, pennant hungry to be sure.

Hen Bream, head coach of the battlefield boys, deserves commendation for the first-class elevens he has produced there since his stay as head mentor. During the past seven seasons Hen's teams have won three and divided two championships in the conference—not bad at all. He is shown above giving his quarterbacks, Sassaman (right), and Garverich, some first hand field general information as Assistant Coach Griffith (left) looks on.

To the left we have Tony Kozma, powerful end and captain of last year's team which bumped the Grizzlies. He will start today against the Bears as well as Al Sobolesky (right), another Bullet end.

Bullets and Bears Clash Once More

Calvert kicking out of danger in 1933 Ursinus-Gettysburg football battle, Gettysburg won, 13-12.

THE existing rivalry between Gettysburg and Ursinus is not of such long standing as that between Ursinus and other conference teams such as Franklin and Marshall and Dickinson; nevertheless, it is by no means less intense. Although the Bullets and the Bears met for the first time as far back as 1903, the intervening thirty-one years have been marked by several long breaks, the longest occurring between 1912 and 1920 when football relationships between the two colleges were discontinued for eight years. However, in recent years the Gettysburg game has once again become an annual contest on the Grizzly schedule, this year's game being the fifth successive time the Bears meet their G-burg rivals. It also marks the fifteenth game of the series.

In reviewing the fourteen contests already played, the superiority of the Gettysburg elevens over Ursinus is very apparent. The Collegeville gridsters have won only three times, while the Bullets have returned home victoriously nine times, six times by very decisive scores. Only two ties have been played, one 0-0 stalemate in 1904 the second time the teams opposed each other, and again in 1931, when the Bears were battled to a 6-6 tie on the Bullets' home grounds.

Ursinus got off to a good start back in 1903 by trouncing the G-burg boys, 22-0. This record was not of very long standing, however, for later in the series Gettysburg was continually winning games by very large scores, such as 59-0 in 1906, 34-0 in 1921, 27-0 in 1925, and 30-0 in 1926. Since the conference has been formed, teams of more equal strength have appeared, the largest score being a 13-0 victory by Ursinus in 1930. The closest game yet played took place only last year, when the Bullets nosed out the Bears by a single point, to take the battle with a 13-12 score.

The one-sidedness of the series can best be seen by comparing the total scores of the entire fourteen games. In these contests, Ursinus has scored only 76 points as compared with the 217 of Gettysburg. This is exactly opposite of the results noticed in the Ursinus-Franklin and Marshall series of four weeks ago. If we deduct from the record the four games played since the conference was organized, the difference is even more marked, being 43 points for the Bears and 191 for the G-burg Bullets. A comparison of averages will show that Ursinus has scored only 5.4 points per game, which is a little better than the Bears' average for the present season. The Gettysburg elevens, however, have piled up an average of 15.5 points per game in fourteen contests. The latter is, indeed, a rather good record.

From the above information it seems that the Gettysburg-Ursinus series has been one long winning streak for the Bullets. Eight times in fourteen starts, the Bears have been held scoreless, while their opponents have not scored in only three games, one of which was the scoreless tie of 1904. Twice the Bullets have been able to win three or more successive contests, once from 1905 to 1907, and again during the period from 1920 to 1926.

Eight Grizzly Seniors Sing Swan Song on Patterson Field

EIGHT Seniors will today end their careers as Ursinus football players on Patterson Field. After the Gettysburg game today, they play only once more for Ursinus, and that at Reading with Albright on Turkey Day. Briefly, they are as follows: Sam Levin, captain; Walt Price, Charlie Harvey, Roy Johnson, Alex Kravitz, Tom Price, Ed Knudsen and Howard Gill.

Captain Sam Levin, the leader of the strangest Ursinus team ever to set foot on a gridiron, and probably the only one of these seniors to start today's game, must be paid due homage to. Hailing from Northeast High of Philadelphia as a fullback, Sammy was converted to a lineman early in his sophomore year, and has since been a regular either at a guard or a tackle post. Weighing only 175 pounds, the Grizzly captain has given a noteworthy account of himself in practically every game in which he has played. The greatest feat he accomplished this season was when he blocked the try for extra point in the Penn game, thus giving the Bears their thrilling 7-6 victory over the Quakers. In fact, it was his playing in this game that won for him honorable mention by the All-American football board, only the second Ursinus player to receive such an honor.

Although Sammy may be the only senior to start today, other last year men have seen action this 1934 season and have helped greatly in the victories the Bears have achieved this year.

Charlie Harvey and Walt Price, both backfield men, started and played the greater part of the Penn game, while Harvey was the lad who saved the day for Ursinus when he recovered a blocked punt near his own goal line to avert a Penn score. "Wheeler" as he is called, hails from Germantown, and until he was laid up with an injury he sustained during the F. and M. fracas, he was enacting the role of regular blocking back for the Bears. Walt Price, one of Ursinus' football twins, played earlier in the season, but has since been on the sidelines with a hip injury. Walt and his brother, Tom, came to Ursinus from Palmyra, N. J., where the latter played center. Since coming to the Collegeville institution, Tom has been shifted to a guard post, although he has not seen as much service as his brother.

Roy Johnson, rangy end and captain of the 1934-35 basketball team, has had an up and down career in an Ursinus uniform. During his Sophomore year, Roy, another Jersey lad, was understudy to Swede Paul, present Frosh coach and finest end ever produced at the Grizzly institution, and has since played some superb games. Although he has not seen as much service this year as formerly due to very keen competition among the wingmen, Roy's abilities are not to be denied, and as a pass receiver he rates with the best.

Ed Knudsen, scrappy guard, has been unfortunate like several of his fellow seniors in the respect that he, too, has been laid up all season with a bad back injury. Last week at Muhlenberg, Ed got his first taste of action this season and should see service today. He is scrappy and aggressive and has lots of chatter in the forward wall.

Alex Kravitz, of Philadelphia, and Howard "Emerson" Gill, of Norristown, are the remaining members of the eight seniors who close the home

Ursinus Athletic Heads

RUSSELL C. JOHNSON, better known as Jing, has for the past five years served as the Athletic Director of the College. Jing is an athlete in his own right, having been an outstanding performer for Ursinus in his undergraduate days, as well as a baseball pitcher for the Philadelphia Athletics and other independent ball clubs throughout the East. Jing has obtained widespread popularity among the students and the faculty, and much credit for the development of athletics at Ursinus in recent years is undoubtedly due to him.

Jing graduated from Ursinus in 1916 and spent several years playing big league baseball following this. During the time he was associated with independent baseball in the East, he was also employed in the chemical laboratories of the Bethlehem Steel Company. Later he returned to the Philadelphia Athletics for two seasons before retiring from baseball circles.

In pursuance of his policy of "athletics for all," Jing has succeeded in establishing intramural athletics on quite a large scale at Ursinus. Intramural sports now include touch football, basketball, wrestling, foul shooting, and baseball, a wide range of activities making it possible for every student so desiring to participate in some sport. As long as Jing remains with us, we are assured of an optimistic future for Ursinus athletics.

"Here We Have Jack and Horse"

Jack McAvoy (left) and Horse Chase (right) need no introduction to friends and students of Ursinus. Jack came to us from Dartmouth where he attained quite a reputation for himself as a quarterback, for which he received All-American mention for his work. Horse received his gridiron training at the University of Pittsburgh, and made such a good job of it that he was awarded a tackle position on the 1926 All-American team. Between them they have developed a football team which is hard to classify. With two victories over the strong teams of Penn and F. and M., two losses, one to the weak St. Joseph's eleven, and three ties to their credit, their proteges have secured a reputation for being unpredictable. However, they are pinning their hopes on a victory over Gettysburg today, for a win means a successful season and the Conference championship, and a loss means the reverse.

THE BATTLE "WITH" GETTYSBURG

THE Gettysburg Bullets come to Collegeville today with a team formidable enough to insure a real football contest on Patterson Field. Hen Bream's battlefield boys are always strong, and this year is no exception to the rule. Briefly speaking, the record compiled by the Bullets is five victories and but one defeat, a record that far surpasses the one of our own Bears. Penn State is the only 1934 club to hand G-burg a setback, while Dickinson and Muhlenberg, teams that the Ursinus gridders could only tie, have tasted defeat at the hands of the Bullets. Furthermore, the facts are that Ursinus must win today in order to lay claim to the Conference crown—something which she has been a favorite to win ever since that spectacular 6-0 win over F. & M. a month ago.

Gettysburg brings with her a veteran line and a fast, light backfield, composed mostly of sophomores. We'll see once more the brilliant end, Tony Kozma, who was such a big factor in the 13-12 victory over the Bears last year, Nyo and Brown, hard-charging guards, and others who helped whip the McAvoymen in '33. New faces who appear in the G-burg backfield are stalwarts such as Cico, the hefty fullback; Sassaman, former Williamsport High flash; Superka, high scoring ace of the Breamites, and Shadle, another clever soph, who is playing first string ball.

Ursinus has a team on her hands, a team that is and always has pointed for the Bears, and a team that is determined to keep her streak intact and to win the Conference championship. Gettysburg must whip the Bears today to do this. On the other hand, the men of McAvoy and Chase must take the Bullets or else lose the crown. Not only that, the Grizzlies must defeat the Bullets in order to prove they are worthy conquerors of Penn and F. & M. Three tie games in a row are just about enough to make sports fans wonder what kind of a freak team the Bears have. A victory today is the only method of convincing those doubtful ones that Ursinus is and has a good football team. Let's go, Bears! Get in the thick of it once more.

WELCOME, FATHERS!

THE staff of the GRIZZLY GRIDDER is taking this opportunity of extending a hearty welcome to the fathers of Ursinus men and women students who have come to Collegeville today in celebration of this annual holiday. It is quite fitting that those who have made it possible for us to come to Ursinus should be able to visit the college and become better acquainted with it.

The football game with Gettysburg this afternoon is an important part of the entertainment provided for you. A victory would give us a two-fold pleasure, for in addition to winning the Conference race, it would aid in making your stay on the campus more enjoyable. But whether we win or lose, the game will be a good one in that it will exemplify the spirit and sportsmanship which are obtained by all loyal Ursinus students. It should make all fathers proud of having a son or daughter in the College, and it is our hope that this Ursinus spirit, which is present not only at athletic contests but everywhere on the campus, will become a part of you, too.

WHO WILL WIN?

WITH the 1934 Eastern Pennsylvania Conference race more than half completed, predictions as to the ultimate outcome seem to be more in order. But with Ursinus continuing her style of non-predictable football which has characterized the Bears' playing all season; with the strongest team in the Conference numbered among the two Grizzly victories, and with Gettysburg as yet undefeated and untied, football dopesters have just about given up predicting in this neck of the woods.

Nevertheless, it is possible to consider what outcomes are possible. It is generally conceded that F. & M., unless they fall into a slump similar to the one she exhibited here on October 20, will defeat both Dickinson and Gettysburg, and thus end the season with three victories and one defeat. If this were to happen, Ursinus by defeating or even tying Gettysburg today, would remain the only undefeated team in the Conference, in the first case having to her credit two victories and two tied games, and in the second case, finishing with one lone victory and three tied games. Unless there are Conference rules governing the choice of the champion, F. and M. would have a very good right to protest the championship in case the latter possibility proved a reality.

But the Gettysburg Bullets have always been more or less of a "jinx" to Ursinus, and they are likely to upset the Grizzlies today unless the McAvoymen tighten up and play the brand of football that defeated Penn earlier this year. If the Bullets do turn out victorious today, and lose to F. and M., the Conference will result in a tie for the third straight year, both Gettysburg and F. and M. having three wins and one loss to their credit. But if the Gettysburg gridders defeat Ursinus, and then come through on Thanksgiving Day by defeating the Lancaster Nevonians in the bargain, the Conference will be theirs.

Dickinson and Muhlenberg are definitely out of the running. The former team has one loss and one tie behind it, and the best that could possibly happen would be a percentage of .666 which would not be enough to win. Muhlenberg is in even a worse state, having won none, tied one, and lost two.

So it is the question of whether Gettysburg or Ursinus remains undefeated is up for today's game to decide. This is the key game in the Conference right now, and the result remains to be seen. It happens, however, that today is the Bears' day to win.

Two Battlefield Threats

Bob Sassaman (left), former Williamsport High flash, and a transfer from Susquehanna, has been spelling destruction to Gettysburg opponents this year with his broken field running, fine passing and punting. He will undoubtedly start against the Bears today.

Russ Bogar (right), plays the center position for the Bullets and has been the mainstay in Coach Bream's line for several seasons.

The Light and Heavy of the Bullets

Two stalwarts in the Gettysburg forward wall are these two guards posed here.

Harry Nye (left), the vest pocket guard of the Bullets, weighs only 145 pounds, but makes up for his lightness by being considered the most aggressive man on the squad.

Just the opposite is Bill Brown (right), 194 pounds, the heaviest member of the squad. Bill is a formidable veteran.

Grizzly Gridder Gossip

WELL folks, being as how it's the last home game we might let you in on a few secrets of the blundering Bears, players of more tied games than the 1932 soccer team, and that's sompin'. The boys are in the pink for today's game, though, and expect to make short work of the Battlefield's Bullets—after all there's a dance tonight, and Costello and Jakomas must shave, Bassman must get a haircut, Worster must rent a wooden arm, Brandt must learn how to escort a girl into the Thompson-Gay "ball-room" properly, and "Butterball" Gill must brush his false teeth.

Six Philadelphia High Schools are represented on the Ursinus varsity squad, the schools being, Central, Northeast, Overbrook, Southern, Simon Gratz, and Germantown, and the men being Bassman, Sam Levin, Calvert, Kravitz, Rube Levin, and Harvey, respectively.

The entire squad averages in weight 172 pounds per man. The average height is 5 feet 10 inches.

The team has scored a total of only 24 points in seven games while our opponents have garnered only 54. This is an average of 3.4 points per game for Ursinus and 7.7 points per game for the enemy. However, 35 of the opponents' scores were made by one team, Villanova, leaving 19 to be divided among the remaining six teams.

Only eight of the thirty-seven men on the squad will not be with us again next year. Five of these have previously earned a varsity letter in football: Walt Price, Charlie Harvey, Ed Knudsen, Roy Johnson and Captain Sammy Levin. The last named is the only present senior who has earned his "U" in two successive years.

Well, see the rest for yourself out on Patterson Field. Victory No. 3 of the current season is in due order today.

season today. Both are tackles and both are reserves, although Kravitz started the Penn game and gave a very creditable account of himself for the greater part of it.

Hats off to these seniors who have been plugging away for three years, in the fight all the time, win or lose. They deserve every bit of praise and credit given them!

When Papa Was a Boy

College Was Never Like This

FOR FATHERS ONLY

YES SIR, folks, it's Papa's Day today (father's day to all those who don't speak papa language), and all those dignified, stately-looking individuals up there in the stands are proud papas, none else.

The average papa is anxiously scanning the gridiron to see if Junior is taking out his tackle correctly, or is skirting those ends like pop did when he was a gay young cut-up, or else he is proudly watching his namesake tooting the tuba or squeezing a saxophone in the band, while the rest of the college lustily sings "Pigskin, go over that line," (for Pete's sake)! Maybe papa's idol is a coed selling hot dogs over yonder, or maybe he's the water boy, or maybe he's a freshman selling GRIZZLY GRIDDERS (adv.), or maybe he's a freshman parking cars, or maybe he's just a freshman with a dink and tie. Anyway, papa's proud, and is doing things today that the boys back at the office would snicker at if they only knew.

But what a change from back in '99 when Papa's team, consisting of 12 men, including the coach and the dean of the college, went down to the gas works and played a two-hour game with brass knuckles and no referee, until pop personally had to fracture the opposing quarterback's skull before Ursinus could claim victory, because the latter had tried to steal the ball when pop's team was on the two-inch line.

Pop played before no crowds, no coeds and no band. The field was full of stones and pop bottles, and the referee was bribed by the other team. The coach had a long beard and wore red flannels. There weren't any such animals as cheerleaders with long white pants nor field judges with short white pants, and the boys never got Monday off, even if they licked the gas works. And Father's Day banquets were unheard of! Yes sir, what an advance college life has made.

But all in all, papa's glad college life has changed. He'd shudder to think of the fact that Junior might be pulling the same pranks he did when he was a gay young blood. (Ah, if he only knew Junior as we know him!) But nevertheless, papa is proud, whether Junior be a boy or a girl, whether he be a triple threat man (the Bears have none this year) or a hockey satellite, whether he be a dumb Fresh-

Rule Changes

1. The circumference of the short axis of the 1934 ball is almost an inch shorter than that of the 1933 ball.

2. Should any part of the ball be up to or beyond the stake when measuring, it will be considered as a first down.

3. One incomplete forward pass may be thrown over the goal line in the same series of downs (except on fourth down) and the ball will be returned to the spot where it was put in play and count as a down.

4. There will be no penalty for incomplete forward passes.

5. If one team punts and the ball fails to go over the line of scrimmage, the ball can be advanced by the opposing team if they recover it. Moreover, if a member of the opposing team fumbles the ball as he is advancing it, and it is recovered by the team which originally punted, it counts as a first down for this team.

6. Body and arm movements are to be interpreted as a false start.

7. Clarification of punting: a punt is made by a player holding or dropping the ball and he or another player kicking it before it reaches the ground.

8. No player in possession of the ball may have any portion of his person other than his hands or feet touching the ground except the holder of the ball in a place kick. The holder of the ball in the latter case may have his knee on the ground.

9. It is legal for the man, with his knee on the ground apparently in the position for a place kick, to raise his knee from the ground just before the ball reaches his hands and toss the ball back for either a pass or a run.

10. If one team tries a forward pass which is touched by one man on that team and then caught by another from the same team before it is touched by an opponent, it is illegal.

Official Signals

Touchdown or Goal—Both arms raised over head, palms forward.

Safety—Right arm raised, first two fingers opened.

Touchback—Arms raised over head and crossed at wrist.

Incompleted Pass or Missed Goal—Arms crossed before body, palms down.

man waiter, or a poor coed struggling with the enigma of Composition 1-2.

Yes sir, it's Papa's Day at Ursinus, and Papa's Day is Papa's Day regardless if the Grizzlies win, lose or tie. All the pops are invited to see the game (Price $1.00), to buy a GRIZZLY GRIDDER (adv., price 25c), to attend a banquet ('er somethin'—price 50c) and then the climax—to see Junior and Emily stepping it off at the dance tonight. No charge for spectators, but come early and get a front row seat, papa, and see the change from the time when you used to take bi-swings with mama around old Freeland portico and spent a whole nickel for peanuts every Saturday night.
